Adjunct faculty number includes cooperating teachers and IHE faculty. Number of students in clinical experience includes field experience students and student teachers.

Enrollment

THIS PAGE INCLUDES:

>> Enrollment

On this page, enter the number of candidates for an initial teaching credential who are enrolled in the initial teacher preparation programs within your institution of higher education (IHE) or organization. Do not report on the total number of students enrolled in the entire IHE. Do not include individuals who currently hold a teaching credential and are seeking additional licenses or endorsements, or individuals preparing for school-based careers other than classroom teachers (e.g., administrators, guidance counselors).

The Department recognizes that in many cases, candidates voluntarily report their race/ethnicity and gender data, and that in some cases, candidates may choose not to report this information. Please report on the race/ethnicity data you have available, though the data may not be complete. It is not expected that the sum of the enrolled students reported by race/ethnicity or by gender will necessarily equal the total number of students enrolled.

If your IHE offers both traditional and alternative programs, be sure to enter the candidates enrolled in the appropriate reports. For the traditional report, provide only the candidates enrolled in traditional programs within the IHE. For the alternative report, provide only the candidates enrolled in the alternative programs within the IHE.

After entering the enrollment data, save the page using the floating save box at the bottom of the page.

Enrollment

For the purpose of Title II reporting, an enrolled student is defined as a student who has been admitted to a teacher preparation program, but who has not completed the program during the academic year being reported. An individual who completed the program during the academic year being reported is counted as a program completer and not an enrolled student.

Provide the number of students in the teacher preparation program in the following categories. Note that you must report on the number of students by ethnicity and race separately. Individuals who are non-Hispanic/Latino will be reported in one of the race categories. Also note that individuals can belong to one or more racial groups, so the sum of the members of each racial category may not necessarily add up to the total number of students enrolled. Teachers Prepared

On this page, enter the number of program completers by the subject area in which they were prepared to teach, and by their academic majors. Note that an individual can be counted in more than one academic major and subject area. For example, if an individual is prepared to teach Elementary Education and Mathematics, that individual should be counted in both subject areas. If no individuals were prepared in a particular academic major or subject area, you may leave the cell blank. Please use the "Other" category sparingly, if there is no similar subject area or academic major listed. In these cases, you should use the text box to describe the subject area(s) and/or the academic major(s) counted in the "Other" category.

If your IHE offers both traditional and alternative programs, be sure to enter the program completers in the appropriate reports. For the traditional report, provide only the program completers in traditional programs within the IHE. For the alternative report, provide only the program completers for the alternative programs within the IHE.

After entering the teachers prepared data, save the page using the floating save box at the bottom of the page.

Teachers Prepared by Academic Major

Please provide the number of teachers prepared by academic major for academic year 2016-17. For the purposes of this section, number prepared means the number of program completers. "Academic major" refers to the actual major(s) declared by the program completer. An individual can be counted in more than one academic major. If no individuals were prepared in a particular academic major, please leave that cell blank. (§205\(b\)\(1\)\(H\))

Please note that the list of majors includes several "Teacher Education" majors, as well as several noneducation majors. Please use care in entering your majors to ensure education-specific majors and non-education majors are counted correctly. For example, if an individual majored in Chemistry, that individual should be counted in the "Chemistry" academic major category rather than the "Teacher Education–Chemistry" category.

Program Completers

On this page, enter the total number of individuals who completed the program in AY 2016-17 and the two prior academic years. If you submitted an IPRC last year, the number of program completers for the two prior academic years are pre-loaded from your prior year's report.

A program completer is a person who has met all the requirements of a state-approved teacher preparation program. Program completers include all those who are documented as having met such requirements. Documentation may take the form of a degree, institutional certificate, program credential, transcript or other written proof of having met the program's requirements. In applying this definition, the fact that an individual has or has not been recommended to the state for initial certification or licensure may not be used as a criterion for determining who is a program completer.

An individual cannot be classified as both enrolled and as a program completer at the same time. An enrolled individual is not a program completer. Once an individual has met all the requirements of a state-approved teacher preparation program and becomes a program completer, the individual is no longer classified as enrolled.

After entering the program completers, save the page using the floating save box at the bottom of the page.

6. Prospective general education teachers are prepared to provide instruction to students from low-income families.

- Yes
- No

7. Prospective teachers are prepared to effectively teach in urban and rural schools, as applicable.

8. Describe your institution's most successful strategies in meeting the assurances listed above:

The following specific courses address the items checked above: Multicultural Education, Introduction to Exceptionalities, Methods of Teaching ELL, and Inclusion and Collaboration. In addition, parts of early childhood education courses address issues such as instructional decisions teacher candidates will face in the classroom, working with children with diverse needs, individualizing instruction for ESL and ELL children, assisting children and their families of low income, and providing experiences, including student teaching, in both rural and urban areas. During the student teaching semester, the above issues are discussed in the student teaching seminar as well because student teachers face these challenges in their cooperating schools. General education teachers receive training in working with students who have disabilities, limited income and limited English proficiency by an education professor who is assigned to assist students who have diagnosed learning disabilities and other situations which would hamper learning. In addition that instructor also is in consistent contact with faculty of students who have come to the college with IEPs. Through the various field experiences and methods courses, students are instructed to effectively teach in rural and urban schools.

Teacher Training

Provide the following information about your teacher preparation program. Please note that choosing 'yes' indicates that your teacher preparation program would be able to provide evidence upon request. \(§205\(a\)\(1\)\(G\)\)

Include planning activities and a timeline if any of the three elements listed above are not currently in place.

All teacher candidates in Early Childhood, Middle Level, Music, and Secondary English Education, must enroll in four specific courses that address the above teacher training components. In the Sophomore year, students enroll in Introduction to Exceptionalities. This three-credit course provides an overview of the basic characteristics and unique life and educational needs of individuals who have been determined to be exceptional in mental, physical, and/or emotional characteristics. Topics of study include but are not limited to: learning disabilities, mental impairment, emotional and/or behavioral disorders, mental health disorders and multiple and severe disabilities. Emphasis is placed upon understanding differences from a biblical perspective. This course is a pre-requisite for the second Special Education course. This second course, Inclusion and Collaboration, is also a 3-credit course and is taken in the Junior or Senior year. It is an introduction to those educational and related services that are collectively known as "special education" in contemporary public schools and the inclusion of those students in the regular classroom. The IEP process is thoroughly examined as well as the classroom teacher's role on the IEP committee. A ten-hour observation during the field experience is required in a public school classroom in which a special needs student is enrolled. The third three-credit senior year course, Methods of Teaching ELL, is a course in bilingual/multicultural/ELL education. The course focuses on methods of developing lesson plans in language arts, science, math, social studies, music, and the arts for the English Language Learner. Components of curriculum content, teaching techniques, second language literacy, assessment, and development and evaluation of teaching materials are emphasized. The fourth course, Multicultural Education, is senior-level course surveying the historical and political issues in the education of students from cultures, ethnicities, and races other than the dominant culture. It focuses on the assessment of curriculum and instructional methods for ethnic, racial, and cultural bias. The course is designed to enhance the necessary teaching skills to provide equal access and equal opportunity for all students in the educational setting, thereby developing multicultural competency in professional educators. In addition, all methods courses include components to instruct the teacher candidates to provide lesson and presentation strategies for the special needs students that will undoubtedly be in the public school classrooms.
